

Evolution in Changing Seas Careers Workshop for Girls

April 22 & 23, 2020

WHO: Girls in grades 10-12

WHAT: In this two-day workshop girls will learn about tools used to study the genomes of living things, and tips for a successful career in marine science.

WHERE: Northeastern University Marine Science Center, Nahant.
Daily shuttles available from Ruggles, Wonderland and Lynn/Central Square MTBA stations.

COST: Thanks to National Science Foundation funding, this workshop is free of charge. Applications are accepted on a rolling basis and preference is given to girls from economically disadvantaged families.

To find out more and apply:

Emily Duwan
e.duwan@northeastern.edu
781.581.7370 x373